TALK OF THE TOWN

Save money. Get my prices on watches and watch and clock repairing. E. O. Holmes, 6 Maple Grove, tel. 241-X.—adv.

A. B. Carter, manager of the Black Theatre circuit interests in Barre, has returned from Brattleboro, his former home, after several days' stay.

F. Newell Parker, employed in the main office of the Central Vermont railway at St. Albans, passed the week end at his home on Spaulding street.

Rheumatism is increasingly prevalent this year. This explains the unusually large demand E. A. Drown has for Rheuma, the one remedy for rheumatism sold on guarantee.—adv.

James Young of the Noyes-Buick Co. of Boston, who was called to Burlington by the death of his brother-in-law, visited at his home on Merchant street Saturday before returning to Boston.

Raymond L. Martin, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Martin, who is a senior in the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., has been elected secretary and treasurer of the class of January, 1922.

The Clara Barton guild will meet Monday evening, Feb. 14, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Hoffman, 305 North Main street. All members and those desiring to become members are cordially invited. Those who have not paid their dues please come prepared to do so.

Mrs. E. L. Putnam of Springfield, Mass., is caring for her sister, Mrs. Clinton F. Miller of Washington street, who fell down a flight of stairs last week, when hastening to answer a telephone call, and badly sprained an ankle as well as dislocating a small bone near the foot.

The home economics department will have charge of the meeting of the Barre Woman's club on Tuesday at 2:30 in Howland hall. Miss Lydia M. Potter of the University of Vermont will give a cooking demonstration and there will also be a food sale. Each lady is requested to bring a spoon. Recipes will be on sale.

James S. Bennett, who for the past two years has been a very successful salesman of the Cooley-Wright Co. of Waterbury, has relinquished his duties with that firm to accept a position as salesman for the granite manufacturing concern of Anderson & Friberg, who lately completed the erection of one of the most modern and up-to-date manufacturing plants in the Barre district. Mr. Bennett will not only be missed locally among the granite dealers but also in musical circles for his work as one of Barre's leading soloists gave him prominence on numerous programs and the demand for him has been great elsewhere as well as at home. He will take up his new duties in a few weeks, having territory in the middle west.

In the February issue of Granite, Marble & Bronze is printed the address delivered to the all New England convention of granite dealers by S. Hollister Jackson of Barre, president of the International Monument Granite Producers' association. A likeness of Mr. Jackson appears in a small picture on the page containing his words. In a separate article concerning this New England convention is a list of firms which furnished designs and photographs for exhibition. Vermont firms included in it are: Boutwell, Milne & Varnum Co., Montpelier; quarry views; Phillips & Slack, Northfield; Marston & O'Leary, Parry & Jones, Carroll Bros., Barclay Bros., George Stratton, Jones Bros. Co., Carswell-Wetmore of Barre, and Cross Bros. of Northfield.

Five weeks of travel through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Nebraska and other western states enabled Clinton F. Miller, who traveled for the Young Bros. company, to learn conditions in that section of the country. Mr. Miller, like most other monument salesmen, found difficulty in locating memorial buyers. During the war the farmers of the West made vast sums of money and later made big financial plunges, consequently many of those who in normal times would be good prospects, are not ready to invest money in memorials. Other granite salesmen find conditions the same, and are of the opinion that the wheels of industry will start revolving in the East much sooner than in the West. At various intervals during his itinerary Mr. Miller had occasion to attend nine state conventions of retail monument associations with other salesmen of the Young Bros. Co.

R. E. Sears of Boston is making a short visit in the city.

Early showing of spring coats at Morse's, Montpelier.—adv.

Ernest Curtis from Greenfield, Mass., is stopping with his uncle, Frank Adams, at 47 Elm street.

A regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Clan Gordon, No. 12, will be held Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 7:15 p. m.

Miss Irene Blair resumed her duties this morning in the City Bakery, after spending a week with friends and relatives in Springfield.

Patrick Massie of Maple avenue left yesterday for Peekskill, N. Y., where he has found employment as a granite cutter on a large building job.

Mrs. Ida J. Martinson, who recently returned from Burlington, where she has been visiting her daughter, Hilda, at the University of Vermont, has gone to Boston, where she will visit with her daughter, Mrs. Homer Sowles, for the remainder of the winter.

Alexander Duncan of Delmont avenue is detained at his home on account of illness. Mr. Duncan returned Friday from Philadelphia, where he has been sick for a week following a business trip through New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the interests of the North Barre Granite company.

Evidently the party that inserted the announcement of the engagement of Mildred Johansson in The Times on Friday was not acquainted with the family. Sources other than the telephone book would have been used. On the phone book states that he is not yet married and plans not to be for a few years.

Clarence Curtis, a former clerk in the Barre Savings bank, spent the week end with relatives in the city and at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Curtis of Orange, returning this morning to Island Pond, where for two months he has been filling a vacancy in the National bank of that place.

H. P. Hinman of the Hinman-Bugbee Co. returned to Barre Saturday after a six weeks' trip, during which he went as far as Colorado looking into granite trade conditions. He found that while all regions visited were more or less affected by the slowing down of business there were indications that the conditions were gradually improving and that the granite business would, in turn, come back to normal albeit rather slowly perhaps.

During his spare moments, Frank Garand, an elderly man who resides on upper Merchant street, is busily engaged with a jackknife fashioning out a stock of very attractive wooden fans, each fan made of one piece of cedar and with fan wings glued and gilded so that the fan makes a fairly stable and useful article. Mr. Garand is 74 years of age and for one of his years is quite skillful with the jackknife. He has made as many as two dozen fans during the last few weeks, which he is pleased to dispose of to any desiring his wares.

Vice-President Marshall and His New Line.

Vice-President Marshall has found a new job for himself—a peddler of "dope." He told the story recently to show how easily a vice-president can appear in public without being known. He traveled through his own state, making speeches in the campaign. And this happened to him:

"I was seated in the smoking car thinking out what I could say to help the Democratic party in a speech. I was to make that night," said Mr. Marshall. A large man slumped down in the seat beside me. "Mighty bad day for business," said the stranger, observing the rain falling in torrents. "What's your line?" "Motor car accessories." "Peddling dope?" "I thought they wouldn't let you sell that stuff." "But I have a special arrangement with the administration for a short time yet." Vice-President Marshall said he supposed his tin in companion was telling the story during the last few weeks, which he is pleased to dispose of to any desiring his wares.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blathrow and their son, George, of Montpelier have been visiting Mrs. M. T. Merrill, who is somewhat improved in health.

Miss Ellavene Sandspra is enjoying a fortnight's vacation from the Clifford pharmacy and yesterday went to Worcester, Mass., to visit at John T. Reed's.

Miss Cylene Morse has returned to high school, after a two weeks' absence because of illness.

Mrs. Margie Bowen of Randolph is housekeeping at D. E. Everett's.

Mrs. F. A. Marsh went Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Harry Campbell, in Quincy, Mass.

Expected a Feed.

Tampering with signs has long been a favorite amusement with young people. To remove the fourth letter from "manicure," for example so that it reads "man cure," tickles their sense of humor. The latest case we heard of is where a little boy at a public gathering was greatly disappointed because no refreshments were served. He insisted to his mother that a feed was promised, and as they passed the bulletin board in going out he pointed out that promise. Some mischievous urchin had removed the "s" from "seats free."—Boston Transcript.

Not Up to Sporting Terms.

An English tourist was on a visit to Arran and decided to have a day's fishing. He made inquiries of local experts, and on being told that the eel, or horsefly, would suit his purpose for lure, he sought the Highland servant at his inn.

"I say, my girl, can you get me some horseflies," he asked.

The girl looked at him stupidly. He repeated his question, and added: "Why, girl, did you never see a horsefly?"

"Naa, sir," replied the girl, shaking her head, "but I wance saw a coo jump over a cliff."—Houston Post.
